

Weekly Prize won't be/not awarded in Round 0 (the Opening Round)

The cyclone in Queensland last year that caused the postponement of two of the games in the Opening Round (our Round 0) might still be having an affect on your tipping competition this year.

Because of the two postponed games last year left only two games being played in the Opening Round, a lot of competitions took our advice and decided not to award a weekly prize in that round.

However if, when you set up this year's competition, you copied your settings from last year then it will have also copied the setting not to award the prize in the Opening Round (Round 0)

In the Options your 'Weekly Prizes will probably look similar to the below:

Options

Weekly Prizes

Award a weekly prize

Cash prize

Award prizes this round

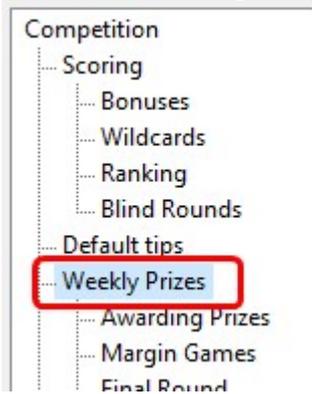

So unless it is updated, your Weekly Prize will not be awarded in Round 0 this year.

It is easy to update – instruction for doing so are as follows:

First, click on the Options button on the toolbar

Then, select 'Weekly Prizes' in the list on the left

If you can't see the list of each Round's prize then you'll need to select

Then in the list of Rounds, select Round 0

Round	Prize	Award Prizes
Round 0	$0.00	False
Round 1	$10.00	True
Round 2	$10.00	True

Then, at the bottom of the list, amend the Prize for the round and select the 'Award Prizes this round' checkbox

A form titled "Prize for Round 0" with a "Prize:" label and a text input field containing "10.00". Below the input field is a checked checkbox labeled "Award prizes this round".

Then, if the prize is going to be the same in every round, click on the 'Set for this and subsequent rounds' button.

Then unselect 'Set a different prize for some or all rounds'

and then click on the OK button

Or, if your prize is going to be different for some of the rounds'

Click on the 'Set this round button'.

and then click on the OK button

In both cases above, only if you have already scored the round, you will be prompted:

You should select 'Yes'.
